

OPPORTUNITY PROFILE

Director of Local Outreach and MORE Life Community Center

COLORADO COMMUNITY CHURCH

THE CHURCH

Colorado Community Church has built a culture that is intentionally multi-generational, multicultural and interdenominational, recognizing that there are unique needs across the many stages of life but that the body is strongest when each part is present and sharing their gifts with one another.

In December 2019, they will move into their new facility in Aurora, Colorado – an eastern suburb in the Denver-Metro area. This facility is just one mile west of their present location and will include a 1650 seat Worship Center, a 200 seat Chapel and ample space for Children's Ministry and Youth. In addition, they lease a 5,000 s/f building which serves as the More Life Community Center.

As CCC makes the move to their new campus, the Director of Local Outreach & More Life Community Center will play an integral role as an entrepreneurial leader, shepherding Staff and recruiting, training, and deploying multiple teams of volunteers to reach beyond the walls of the church and impact the local community. This next season of ministry, anchored by the new campus and increased visibility, positions the church for greater impact as they continue to be a church that transforms their city and beyond by connecting people to Christ, Community and Calling!

The MORE Life Community Center

Christ. Community. Calling.

The Need Before Us

The suburbanization of poverty and our poor economy have created more poor among us. No longer is the day where the poor live primarily in a centralized portion of our city. We have pockets of poverty all around – even in our own congregation.

Our Guiding Philosophy

We are called by God to bring our city the Good News and the Good Deeds of Christ – that our community would experience God's love and come into a personal relationship with Him. It is often the case that churches tend to emphasize one of these aspects over the other. A church focuses on our spiritual poverty yet neglects meeting the physical poverty before them or vice-versa. At Colorado Community Church we desire to offer a balance, non-lopsided approach to how we live. We want to give people bread for their bodies and the "bread of life" for their soul so as to respond to all the needs (spiritual, physical, emotional) of those in our community. As many resource organizations are "needs" driven, we at the MORE Life Center are relationship driven, and, thus, we strive to meet individual and household needs at the "speed of relationship."

Our Founding Convictions

Dignity

we will treat every person with dignity as a bearer of God's image with inestimable value and worth. We never put ourselves in a position of power over the individual's we serve. We do not make people feel indebted to us.

Exchange

we believe each person has something of value to give in exchange for any assistance they may receive. This might be through volunteering time in a variety of ways or participating financially each according to their ability, and thus serving others as they themselves have been served.

Relationship

we move "at the speed of relationship." Relationship with those we serve is the cornerstone to our approach of helping to bring More Help, Hope and Life to each and every person that walks through our door. We believe transformation happens best in relationship.

Divine Provision

we believe it is ultimately the Heavenly Father who will meet every need – at times using us and at times through others – but we always point people to Him as the ultimate provider in their life.

Whole Life Development

we believe the Gospel of Jesus Christ touches on more than a person's spiritual condition. Jesus came to bring life abundant and through walking in partnership with a Life Champion every person will receive the assistance, dignity and relationship necessary to appropriately aid in their whole life development.
